

Nosara Weather

Shorts and sandals weather year-round. The weather in Nosara, Costa Rica, is generally mild throughout the year, averaging temperatures of 80 degrees during the day and 70 degrees in the evening. The Green Season supplies plenty of rain that supports the lush, tropical surroundings and usually lasts from August to October. Many parts of the country, Nosara included, experience more rain in September and October. The Dry Season runs April to July and the high season—generally the best weather of the year—is between November and March where light afternoon showers cool the air.

Contact us to learn more about Nosara weather or our services.